The BAZOO is authorized to announce James S. Hopkins as a candidate for county collector, subject to the decision of the democratic party.

It costs the United States $40,000,000 yearly to transport the mails.

One lawyer in Moberly claims to have $40,000 in suits against the city, in his hands at the present time.

Yesterday was Senator Sherman's sixty-seventh birthday. While he is acknowledged to be a great statesman, the republicans feel that he is entirely too refrigrant for use.

During the five years between 1884 and 1889 there were in this country 14,770 murders, 588 legal executions and 976 lynchings. Judge Lynch seems to still exercise a good deal of influence.

The basis of the hopes of the republicans for success this fall can only be traced to the results in St. Joseph and Carthage elections. Every other town of any note in the state went democratic this spring.

Ex-President Grover Cleveland, was last week admitted to practice before the United States Supreme Court. The practice of Mr. Cleveland is said to yield him a bigger income than his salary as president was.

Nevada, according to the Montrose Democrat, has a business man who claims he can eat ten pounds of lettuce at one sitting. Will the lesson administered to Ananias and Sapphira never have any effect?

Jefferson City papers are modest in their expectations. They say the republican state convention, the democratic senatorial convention and the democratic congressional convention will all be held in "Sleepy Hollow."

Thus far the distinguished honor, as regards the discussion on the McKinley tariff bill in the house of representatives are with Mr. Dockery of the Missouri Third district. His speech of Thursday was a brilliant one in every respect.

To the average Kansan it must seem that there was a little mistake in the election returns of 1888. President Harrison continues to recognize democratic Missouri in his official appointments, in preference to the state which gave the large majority for the r. o. p.

"Miller's Monthly," is the title of a new paper that has just been issued at Sweet Springs by Robert W. Miller. It is a bright, handsome journal and gives evidence, as the salutatory says that it has come to stay. Success in the fullest degree, the BAZOO wishes.

The name of the Hon. Norman J. Collman of St. Louis, and well known proprietor of the Rural World, is favorably mentioned by a number of exchanges as the next democratic candidate for governor of Missouri. There is but little doubt, that if nominated, Mr. Collman would reach the goal.

The opinion of Senator Ingalls is that it would not be proper to raise the salary of national legislators. He thinks that most of them are making more in their present positions than they could possibly make at any other occupation. In this idea the Kansas statesmen will find many voters who will agree with him.

Ives, the Wall street man who has been accused of getting away with $17,000,000 in connection with his position as president of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton rail road has settled with his creditors for five cents on the dollar. The reputation he gained as a Napoleon of finance, was certainly deserved.

The directors of the proposed World's fair exhibition have fixed upon the following salaries for the administrative officers. President, $16,000, First vice-president, $12,000, Treasurer, $5,000, Auditor, $5,000, Secretary $5,000. It is evidently not to glory alone, that the show is to be run by the Windy City folks.

Hon. F. R. Newberry, who has represented Madison county in the legislature two terms and there acquired a state reputation as a safe, sound, discreet legislator, is now a candidate for the state senate in his district. The democrats of the state at large would rejoice to see him nominated and elected, for 'tis such men they delight to see honored.

From time to time republican papers speak as though there was a lack of educational facilities afforded the colored people in the southern states. Such statements are so far from the truth, as to make the absolute contrary the rule. In Texas, for instance, there are 3000 colored school teachers, and the amount annually paid out for school purposes equals $3,500,000. The educational fund is in valuation, not far from $100,000,000.

In another column of the BAZOO will be seen the announcement of J. S. Hopkins, who is a candidate for county collector. Mr. Hopkins is a son of the late Major Hopkins one of the early settlers in Pettis county. J. S. Hopkins has resided continuously in Pettis for thirty-three years, and is a prominent farmer. If nominated and elected, he will bring to the office large experience as a business man, and integrity, capacity so necessary for a public official, who handles public moneys.

The Kansas City Star says every man in Sedalia who owns a lot thinks there is a prospect for a fancy price for it, within close view. While Sedalia people generally realize that this fair city is progressing in a degree the most encouraging, there is no such feeling among property owners as the item referred to would indicate. Realty is much more valuable here than a year ago and the reasonable probabilities are that it will increase in price, but there will be no suicidal policy inaugurated, such as killed the city by the "Kaw" a few years since. The present growth and success that Sedalia is realizing, is a legitimate one and as such her citizens appreciate it.

ORGANS.

If there is any one thing in newspaperdom more sickly, more shriveled and cramped, more unreliable and frothy, more despicable and cowardly, more cringing, abject and loathsome than another, that thing is an organ. The very name is unsavory, and smacks of toadyism, flunkeyism, narrow-minded and narrow-hearted obedience to a clique, a ring, a faction. This is true of all papers, in whatever interest they may be published, that that have no higher conceptions of usefulness than to be an organ. A republican paper is looked to as the exponent of republican principles. Its pages are devoted to the dissemination of intelligence, and the cultivation of that political faith, or those ideas of political right and duty, that find their origin alone in the principles and doctrines of republicanism. A democratic newspaper is the reverse of all this. An organ, on the contrary, with political proclivities of either character, is essentially the same in its general features, and is, in all cases, the mere mouth piece of a lot of bums and camp followers, the spokes-man of a gang of human buzzards, who, having no visible means of support, and lacking the energy and industry of men, fatten their d-d-lectable claws and beaks in the body politic, and subsist upon the plunde of the people.

A newspaper, clothed in its proper garb, true to its noble mission, spreads before its readers in each successive issue, the thoughts that it conceives will tend to enlighten, elevate and strengthen the people, that will prepare them for the better maintenance of the rights, and performance of the duties that pertain to citizenship in the republic. An organ, true to its nefarious work, attempts to fill its readers with prejudices, darken their minds with bigotry, blight their intelligence with superstition and ignorance, and so to lead them to the support of the ring of buzzards, who, in their turn, keep the organ greased and moving. It is consoling to know that the age has gone by wherein organs can flourish to any alarming extent. And the fact that but few of these birds of ill omen exist to day, is one of the best signs of the political purity of the future.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

—Sir John Millais is now engaged in painting a portrait of Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain. The Britons never tire of admiring American beauties.

—Prof. George Ebers, the Oriental scholar, has blue eyes and blonde hair and looks decidedly Teutonic. He is a paralytic, but does a great deal of work.

—Austin Dobson, the poet is fifty. He entered the English Civil Service at sixteen and was intended for an engineer. He is not a machine poet in any sense.

—Dr. Rosa Kerschbaumer, an Austrian oculist, is the first woman licensed to practise medicine in that country. She has chosen a good field to make people see her merit.

—Mrs. Harriet A. Ketchum has won the prize for the best design for a soldiers' monument offered by the State of Iowa. The women are catching all the big prizes nowadays.

—Ex-Secretary Thomas F. Bayard uses cards that are simply inscribed "Mr. Bayard." The style is English and it created much consternation in the South when Mr. Bayard travelled there.

—P. S. Gilmore, the band leader has purchased an interest in a comic opera "The Sra King," written by Richard Stahl, author of "Said Pasha." The late lamented Daniel McGinty may be its hero.

—M. Ignaz Helfy, a Hungarian deputy, is revising the memoirs of Louis Kossuth. The old patriot says that his forty-one years of exile have made him a little rusty on his native tongue. The exile's speech needs 'il-ing, it would seem.

—Mrs. Maxwell-Scott, owner of Abbotsford, has a revenue of about $3,000 per year from the fees paid by tourists who wish to see Sir Walter Scott's books, curiosities and personal relics. The great novelist's fame would be more profitable but many tourists want to see his relics Scott free.

—Ferdinand J. Dreer, of Philadelphia, has presented to the Historical Society of Pennsylvania a collection of 9,000 autograph letters of antiquary curios. The collection embraces letters of Revolutionary in earnest and the signatures of distinguished men and women of the last one hundred years. Philadelphia has a weakness for relics.

—Baron Ferdinand Swift, the proselytizing Atheist, who died in Venice a short time ago at the age of sixty, climbed the Campanile of St. Mark on horseback, paddled from Venice to Trieste in a canoe, jumped over ranks of drilling soldiers on a hunter and rowed down the Grand Canal from the bare back of a horse standing on a barrel. The late Baron must have been all that his surname implies.

—"Baby Beckwith," who rides in her landau in Central Park, is over forty years old. She was one of the famous beauties of the Second Empire. A book recently published, describes her as the American beauty who was present at the opening of the Suez Canal. A Frenchman once asked her: "Who is the famous American beauty they are talking

Don't Touch the Wires.
 New York Ledger.

It is always best to avoid danger, if possible; therefore, there is one rule which ought to be taught in every school in the United States, and that is—never lift a wire off the ground. This rule may prove more valuable than the rule of three.

A telegraph wire, no matter how many messages may be passing over it, is perfectly harmless, but an electric wire is always deadly. When you see a wire hanging from a pole or a house, or in any position, it may be a telegraph wire or it may be an electric wire, so the safest plan is to let it be. It may not be dangerous, but it is like a loaded gun—it may kill you.

If an electric wire lies across your path, and it becomes absolutely necessary to remove it, bear these points in mind: So long as the wire is on the ground it is harmless, no matter what pressure may be on it. The moment it leaves the ground it is dangerous. You can pull the slack with your hand or foot any distance, so long as the end touches the ground, but do not lift it. The instant you do, you become part of the electric circuit, and the current will run to the ground through your body.

Never mind what your comrades may say about your cowardice or timidity—Don't touch the wires.

Out in Kansas.

Bill Nye.

Kansas is said to be the most remarkable grain growing state. Her soil is rich and black, her people full of good virtues. Corn is low at the present time, but there is enough for food and fuel for the winter, the crop being unusually large. The man who said that by the light of his burning corn the Kansas farmer was enabled to read the mortgage on his farm was a pessimist with a tendency toward uxoricide. Out of the labor and anguish of war, drought and pestilence in Kansas was born a beautiful state, and within her borders dwell a proud, prosperous, and prohibition people. Kansas is one of the most healthful states in the union. People live so long that they get tired of life. The death rate is only eight to every thousand people, the mortality being almost as low as it is among French duellists.

A new idea embraced in Ely's Cream Balm. Catarrh is cured by cleansing and healing, not by drying up. It is not a liquid or snuff, but is easily applied into the nostrils. Its effect is magical and a thorough treatment will cure the worst cases. Price 50c.

With Ely's Cream Balm a child can be treated without pain or dread with perfect safety. Try the remedy. It cures catarrh, hay fever and colds in the head. It is easily applied into the nostrils and gives relief with the first application. Price 50c.

STATE NEWS.

—The new Presbyterian church at Hughesville will be dedicated to-day.

—Rev. S. D. Dutcher late pastor of the first Christian church at Fayette has accepted a call to the Christian church at Hannibal.

—Hon. J. West Goodwin, corresponding secretary, is ably working up an interest in the coming Missouri Press association meeting to be held at Hannibal August 19 to 21.—Jefferson City republican.

—Col. Jacob Greeg, of Grain Valley, was talking to his son Frank last Saturday, when suddenly he became speechless, his tongue seeming to become paralyzed. The old gentleman has nearly recovered and his friends hope to hear his voice for many years to come. He is in the 89th year of his age.—Independence Progress.

—The increase in the clearings of the associated banks yesterday was $78,651.50 over the corresponding day of last year. In the county court yesterday, County Collector Hill presented his regular monthly report. The amount of funds collected during the month of April from sal on keepers was $8,039.20.—St. Joseph Gazette, 9th.

—On Wednesday afternoon the directors of the bank of Montrose held a special election to fill the vacancy of Dr. Watkins as president and also to elect a director to fill vacancy of same. Mr. Watkins presented his resignation to the directors to take effect on the 25th of May. Judge J. N. Ballard, of Spruce township, Bates county, was elected President, M. V. Brown, of this place as director Judge Ballard will move into Mr. Watkins' house about the first of June and the doctor will go to Clinton as President of the newly organized State Bank.—Montrose Democrat.

—Oswattomie people are in a fever of unrest and expectancy. Work has been ordered stopped on the shops there and no man can tell what is to happen. We can sympathize with them and all railroad towns, for we have been all along the line. Mr. S. C. Brooks, secretary of the Farmers and Labor Union of Johnson county, informs us that the F. and L. U. of the county has decided to hold a grand Fourth of July celebration at Pate Springs. Many eminent speakers have been invited to address the people, and a cordial invitation is extended to everybody to be present.—Holden Enterprise.

—Monday morning Mr. Mike Cassidy, (who lived on the Crisp farm, east of Lone Jack, a short distance) was riding upon a load of hay in company with his little boy, and the hay commenced slipping. He stopped to adjust and tighten the pole that held it in place, when the load toppled over and fell. In falling the pole struck him and broke his neck, killing him instantly. His son went to the house and imparted the sad intelligence, and the body was taken home and buried Tuesday. Mr. Cassidy was about 60 years of age, was well respected and had many friends. He leaves a wife and large family to mourn his loss.—Pleasant Hill Local.

—H. L. Seales, of Paris, Texas, a nephew of W. G. Watkins, is in the city paying a visit to relatives. He presents the Sherman, Texas, oil companies, and is much pleased with this section of the country and especially our city. Mr. and Mrs. Singleton Paxton, residing in Deer Creek township, this county, deeply mourn the loss of their only son, aged about ten years, who died at 4 o'clock this (Thursday) morning, May 8, 1890. Last winter he was afflicted with la grippe, which culminated in heart disease. His condition had been serious several weeks, and although every possible attention was given him, all was powerless to stay the hand which must fall sooner or later. The family are overcome with grief. The remains were interred in Deer Creek cemetery, with appropriate services by Rev. Russell of Calhoun.—Clinton Democrat.

—Much to the surprise of the people of Monroe City, M. W. Laughlin has been appointed postmaster at that place by Benjamin Harrison, president of the United States. Another aspirant was endorsed for the position by both the republican clubs (white and black) and it was generally conceded that he would receive the appointment. Laughlin has a brother in Kansas who is a very prominent republican politician and through his influence Senator Ingalls, it is said, interested himself in the matter and secured the luscious plum for his influential constituent's brother. And this is a Kansas senator manipulates the Missouri spoils. Much dissatisfaction is manifested by the people of Monroe City, who think they have been seriously wronged by not having been consulted in the matter of the appointment of their own postmaster. The assessed taxable wealth of Monroe City, as certified by the assessor, exclusive of merchants' tax, is as follows: Real estate, $205,070; per-

Not a Pimple on Baby

Baby One year old. Bad with Eczema. Hair all gone. Scalp covered with eruption. Cured by Cuticura. Hair splendid and not a pimple on him.

Cured by Cuticura.

I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year old, was so bad with eczema that he lost all of his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctors said was scald-head and that his hair would never grow again. Despairing of cure from physicians, I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and I am happy to say, with the most perfect success. His hair is now splendid, and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the CUTICURA REMEDIES to mothers as the most speedy, economical, and sure cure for all skin diseases of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has an afflicted child will thank me for saying so.
 Mrs. M. E. WOODSUM, NORWAY, Me.

Fever Sore Eight Years.

I must extend to you the thanks of one of my customers, who has been cured by using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, of an old sore, caused by a long bout of sickness or fever eight years ago. He was so bad he was fearful he would have to have his leg amputated, but is happy to say he is now entirely well, and as a dollar. He requests me to use his name which is H. H. CASON, merchant.
 J. H. V. MINOR, Druggist, Gainesboro, Tenn.

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of scrofula I ever saw was cured by them.

—One day last week two slick looking fellows came to our city, took lunch at one of our hotels, went to Williamson & Smeltzer's livery stable, hired one of their best rigs and started for Lexington. Upon arriving there they put up the team in style, and one of them took a Lexington outfit for a short drive in the country, while the other took it aloft. The first fellow drove up to the residence of John Catron one of the wealthiest farmers of that section of the country, and told him that he would like to look at a farm adjoining which he had heard was for sale, and asked Mr. Catron to accompany him. He stated that he was a son of Mr. Wentworth, president of one of the Lexington banks. Mr. Catron suspected nothing and went. They had gone but a short distance when No. 2 was met. He pretended to be very green and asked many foolish questions. He was very "flush" and was bent on betting very much. He made several small bets with No. 1 and lost every time. He then tried to strike a wager with Catron, and displayed a large roll of money. But Mr. Catron did not bet, and was soon convinced that the fellows were confidence men and that the money which they handled was counterfeit. About this time the two gentlemen lit out. Officers were notified, but they managed to get away in good time. The rig which they had taken in Lexington was found the following morning near Tabo.—Higginsville Advance.
